

The last monthly Zoom meeting before the summer break is at 2pm on Friday

25th June

My Ancestors' Professions in the British Raj

with speaker Jenny Mallin, author, broadcaster, writer

Jenny will guide us through five generations of her family, their lifestyles and professions, who all lived out in India during the British Raj.

This is a visual and engaging presentation with sepia family photographs and family stories linked to the history pages through the old recipe book of her grandmothers dating back to 1844. It's a unique peek inside the lives of an Anglo Indian family with Victorian values and loyalty to King and Country, telling the story of their lifestyles and lives on the railways and telegraph and in the military

So is this a talk on family history? Or a travelogue of India? Or a discovery of the history of life in the British Raj? Or an exploration of Anglo Indian cookery? Well it's all of these – prepare to be entertained and to learn!

This promises to be a fascinating talk with a very experienced speaker.
