

NATURE AND HUMANS: A BRIEF HISTORY OF A RECENTLY TROUBLED RELATIONSHIP BY DR BRUCE CAMPBELL

Our species has been present on the earth for just 300,000 years or so and for most of that time we mingled quite happily with the rest of Nature.

Comparatively recently things have changed and we have created a world for ourselves where Nature has been edged to one side.

Dr Campbell will take us through these changes in his talk and will illustrate his topic with visual aids.
