“A TALE OF TEA”

A presentation by Stella Evans

Tea is so much a part of everyday life in Britain but how did a unique plant from faraway China become so popular while the rest of Europe was drinking coffee and chocolate? A fascinating tale including one of the most powerful commercial organisations the world has ever seen, widespread smuggling and the well-known ‘Cutty Sark’ one of the Tea Clippers designed purely for speed.

Join us to hear a talk and presentation by local historian Stella Evans.

Tea and coffee and biscuits served as usual.
